JURY

The membership of the Jury that will evaluate the submitted works and deciding on the award of the prize, is publicly and will be provided by the foundation to any interested party.

SUBMISSION

The winners in each category will not be eligible for the Award in the three years preceding present edition, nor will those who, according with the admission committee view, would form part of their work group or were directly related to it. The Foundation will not submit to the Jury that works presented in which, in the admission committee views, this circumstance occurs.

The admission commission may resolve that a work does not meet the criteria candidate for one of the two awards, but it does meet the other. In this case, the Foundation will communicate the author(s) or main responsible(s) the admission committee decision so that within three working days they can oppose it and withdraw work. If within the aforementioned deadline specified no submitted oppositions at the Fundación Renal office, the decision will become final and the work will be eligible for the prize for which the admission committee has its suitability valued.
